C-NESTTM MARKETING

Marketing:

The start of a new year brings new hope and new challenges facing a tough and troubled marketplace. Advancements toward a third party evaluation have been made for ConectiSys. The company feels strongly that in the near future an evaluation process of its complete H-Net meter system will take place paving the way for future contracts and negotiations. The company is aggressively seeking out opportunities in the western region of North America and newly added to our marketing efforts British Columbia Canada. The company anticipates work in 2009 from its efforts. "A job in the near future is critical, and we feel we can achieve that milestone in 2009", says Luca Spigno the company's Marketing Manager. The company feels strongly that it will accomplish these goals in the near future. At this time, it is the utmost focus of the company's marketing resources to obtain a contract or demonstration by a third party. The company and its investors believe that the time for H-Net 6.0's market entry is nearing.
